

Luca Cottini

“The Renaissance Model: The Italian Way to Innovation and Entrepreneurship”

Please join us for a talk by Luca Cottini on the Renaissance model and its persistence though the twentieth century in Italy. What is the relationship between sixteenth-century archetypes and the twentieth-century Renaissance of Italian style in fashion and design? Why does Italy’s industrial success still lie in the Renaissance model?

Friday, May 27, 2022

11:30 am to 12:45 pm PST / 2:30 to 3:45 pm EST

Department of French and Italian
Stanford University

Luca Cottini is Associate Professor of Italian Studies at Villanova University, and host/creator of the Italian Innovators YouTube project. He holds a PhD from Harvard University, a MA from the University of Notre Dame, and a BA from the University of Milan.

A virtual event

To register, click here

For questions, contact Ty Davidian (tdavi@stanford.edu) or Sarah Prodan (sprodan@stanford.edu)